

SCHOOL CULTURE WORKSHOP

The TEEN TRUTH: School Culture Workshop is an educator-focused, professional development event offered to schools across the nation. Featuring award-winning content from TEEN TRUTH, powerful speaking performances, and interactive sessions this workshop gives school leaders a critical understanding of the issues currently affecting school climate and empowers them to develop an action plan that addresses identified concerns. Overall, the goal of the School Culture Workshop is to create campus wide initiatives that will improve school safety and build campus culture, while also producing educational leaders who understand the power of student engagement.

Ideal for middle school or high school administrators; the School Culture Workshop's focus is to empower student voice on campus, while giving educators a simple step-by-step process to build school culture. Geared to be a full day or ½ day experience the event works to inspire attendees to:

- Brainstorm critical campus issues that are negatively affecting school climate
- Develop tangible student-focused solutions that can be implemented on campus
- Understand the importance of leading through service and empowering student voice
- Create campus wide messaging that builds school culture and inspires community connection
